COUPLE ELOPED TWO WEEKS AGO

But Not Until Yesterday Did it Become Known That Young Pair Were Married.

A SURPRISE TO ALL FRIENDS

Miss Winnie Glore and John Morgan
Were Secretly Married in Cincinnati, April 18.

The story of a beautiful romance was unfolded here yesterday when it became known that Miss Winifred Glore, daughter of Mr and Mrs. David Glore of North Julian street and John Morgan, local agent for the Western Union Telegraph Co. eloped to Newport, Ky., Sunday, April 18, and were married. It was the intention of the young couple to keep the affair a secret for some time and then spring it as a surprise on their friends, but conditions arose Saturday that caused the young bride of two weeks to tell the secret.

The young pair went to Cincinnati on this particular Sunday with the ostensible reason for merely spending the day there, but it was their intention when they left to return as man and wife. They went over to Newport, Ky., from Cincinnati and secured their license and were married. The elopement came as a big surprise to the mother of the bride as well as to the numerous friends of the young couple. The bride is twenty-six years of age and the groom twenty years.

Mrs. Morgan has been employed at the I. & C. traction offices for some time but resigned her position there Saturday evening. She was one of the popular young women of the city. Mr. Morgan has been employed here as agent for the Western Union Co. about sixteen months and has gained a large circle of friends during his residence here. He came here from Hillsboro, O., where his parents now reside. There was no parental objection to the marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan will be at home temporarily with the parents of the bride in North Julian street. Mr. Morgan has been offered a position in Kansas which he will in all probability accept.

IMMENSE CROWD HEARD THE SERMON

Rev. J. F. Cowling Preached Sunday Afternoon For the Milroy High School Graduating Class.

MADE A GOOD IMPRESSION

Sunday afternoon Rev. J. F. Cowling of this city delivered the baccalaureate sermon before the Milroy high school graduates in the auditorium of the school building. A large crowd was in attendance. There are twelve in the graduating class. Prof. Ira Taylor is the principal of the school. All who attended spoke in the highest terms of Rev. Cowling's sermon. The minister made the trip to Milroy in J. T. Arbuckle's motor car and was accompanied by J. L. Cowing.

HALL WILL LEAD MARCH.

Lieut. Gov. Frank J. Hall will lead the grand march at the Charity Ball Wednesday night. It is a fitting honor for both the man and the event.

WAIT BEFORE YOU PLANT

Potatoes Should be Planted After Moon is Full.

A fellow who pretends to be an expert in planting seeds and tubers says not to plant potatoes now until after the next full moon which occurs on May 5. He says if you plant now you will have very good potatoes but they will be knotty and much will be wasted in paring and getting ready for cooking. If planted after the moon fulls and just as the lunar planet begins to decline he says you will have nice, large, smooth, potatoes. It's up to you to wait or plant now.

CHANGE PROBABLY NOT BE MADE NOW

Schedule on L. E. & W. Division Between New Castle and This City to Remain the Same.

NOT BOUND TO OBEY ORDERS

In the L. E. & W. circles it is reported that there will be no additional train operated between New Castle and Rushville, says the New Castle Courier. Recently the State Railroad Commission ordered the L. E. & W. company to give the people of Mays better facilities, but general attorney for the railroad company has given an opinion that the company is not bound in any manner to change the present schedule. Therefore it is not at all likely that there will be a second train over the branch. The schedule of the present run may be changed or it may be left just as it is.

"Please change my address for the Republican from St. Gallen to 11 Bahnhofstrasse, Zurich, Switzerland, and oblige, yours very truly, R. E. Mansfield."

FIRST SERVICES IN THEIR NEW HOME

Missionary Baptists Occupy Church

CONNERSVILLE MAY FESTIVAL

Rushville People Will Take Advantage of Rare Musical Treat
This Week.

TWO DAYS WITH THE MUSE

Four of the Best Concert Singers in the Country Will be Heard With Big Chorus.

A number of Rushville people are looking forward with a deal of expectancy to the May Festival which will be held in the Auditorium at Connersville Thursday and Friday of this week. Over two hundred voices will be used in the big choruses. The Connersville newspapers have the following to say of the festival:

"It is a foregone conclusion that the singing of the chorus in the 'Rose Maiden' on Friday evening, May 7th, will be something in the way of a musical effect that the people of Connersville have never heard in this city. Members of the chorus are working earnestly and up to about eleven o'clock every night of rehearsal and their performance is going to be a magnificent one, especially when the time for preparation is taken into consideration. With the orchestra and all the soloists at this performance it will be a fitting close for the first May festival in Connersville.

"The soloists have been rehearsing in Cincinnati in 'A Persian Garden' and the production of this work on Thursday evening is going to be as finished and delightful as four of the best artists in this country can make it. The Thursday evening program will be as fine an introduction to the festival as the chorus, orchestra and soloists will be a fine ending. 'The orchestra program Friday afternoon will be so different from the other performance that if it is missed the festival will not be appreciated as a whole. Therefore, every one should get season tickets at once and secure seats next Monday or Tuesday at Greens'. The demand for single reserved seats is going to be heavy and those who hold season tickets will have first choice and get far more out of the festival than if they would only attend one or two concerts.

"The platform and arrangement of seats for the chorus is now being arranged and the sight of the full chorus is now being arranged and at the sight of the full chorus on the stage with their color scheme is going to be one of the fine features of the festival which will add a good deal, incidentally, to the music.

"The more we learn what this festival is to be, the more we are convinced that Connersville never had anything like it in the way of a musical treat and it now looks as though the Auditorium will hardly be able to hold the audience that will attend each concert."

EXPERT ON SADDLE HORSES

Spent Today in Rushville—Likes Rigg's Black Beauty.

George Conley, one of the best saddle men of the middle-west, was in Rushville today. He rode Fon Rigg's black thoroughbred around and took quite a fancy to the stylish animal. Mr. Conley lives in Indianapolis and will be remembered here as the husband of Miss Lola Wright, whom he married last summer.

LONG LIVE THE STOCK COMPANY

So Say We All of Us—But Will the Stockholders So Decide?

A TEMPEST IN THE TEAPOT

Regarding the Rumored Receivership of the Daily Democrat—Make Answer But no Denial.

A few days ago the Daily Republican published a news story to the effect that the local Daily Democrat will likely soon be in the hands of a receiver. It was also stated that an auditing committee were reported to have found a shortage in the funds of the concern. This information was published only after we were satisfied that the informants knew what they were talking about. In fact, we received the story from one near the throne and one in a position to know all about the affairs of the company. In an attempted not say so in many words—that the receivership will not come to pass. It does not say the story is without foundation, neither does it come out and deny it an emphatic manner, but tries to drown out the noise by a cry of "yellow."

Now, the fact of the matter is, we published the story because it had a news value, the same as the Warfield & Wilson receivership and a score of others. Our aim is always to lead in the news field—we are satisfied to let others follow. We do not intend to get into any lengthy controversy about the matter, but will publish from time to time—should the company go into the courts—the news stories regarding the case.

In truth, there are a number of stockholders in the concern, who favor having the company thrown into the hands of a receiver and the property disposed of. It is said to be a losing investment on account of mismanagement of the past, and quite a few of the stockholders, who do not want to be assessed, just to keep things running, favor the receivership solution and a final disposition of the plant.

The newspaper company was organized primarily that Rush county Democracy might have a rip-snorting, Simon-pure, bitter, personal attacking journal. They had it to their heart's content—those who thought that was the way to conduct a paper. What has been the result? The Democrats lost Rush county by a large majority than for years. And worst of all, the very year that nearly every county in the State made big Democratic gains—poor Rush county Democracy made sorry losses. Oh! but it was a bitter pill. The conduct of the paper disgusted many of the old Jeffersonian Democrats. One popular Democrat candidate for a county office attributes his defeat to the Daily Democrat. The people do not want a newspaper whose sole object is to drag the names of citizens into the mire. It is the papers of a high moral tone that carry the influence and are successful. The local Democratic paper has never been either a money making newspaper or in politics, a clean journal.

When they insisted on attacking Watson, a local citizen honored by the Republicans of Indiana, and published one lie after another about him, we retaliated by praising Lieutenant Governor Hall, a Democrat. We were proud to have such a distinguished citizen living amongst us. If the stories of the Daily Democrat could have been circulated around the State and voters brought to the full realization of the motive and feeling behind them, in spite of the county option mill stone, Watson would have received enough votes from disgusted Democrats to elect him.

Well, it is no use crying about milk that has been condensed and that will soon be consumed. There are a few Democrats who have their eyes on county offices and other plums, who will make a desperate effort to keep the old iron-sheet in operation for their own aggrandizement and at the expense of the other stockholders who have grown lukewarm on the proposition. It is not at all unlikely that they will put up a big fight to keep the company out of the courts, but they have a colossal job on hands, for it will be difficult to stir up enough patriotism in the blood of Doubting Thomases, out of season, and convince them that it will be well to keep the paper in operation even if they have to dig up a little money ever and anon for the next three or four years when they will again have an opportunity to make silly asses of themselves.

As far as we are personally concerned—from a business standpoint—we would like to see the paper go forever as it is; from a political standpoint, the present conditions of stockholder and many headed management are ideal. Long live the stock company!

MAKING A NAME IN BIG MEETING

Homer Cole's Success at Greenfield
Attracts Favorable Comment
Every Day.

MRS. WILL G. McVAY SINGING

There was apparently almost universal opinion that the sermon of Evangelist Corter, on the subject of baptism Friday night was one of the best ever heard on the subject, says the Greenfield Reporter. The house was filled to overflowing and intense interest was manifested from beginning to end. The song service was way above the ordinary, Mr. Cole singing several special numbers, and some by request. The sweet singing of Mrs. McVay was a feature that was most favorably commented upon. The duet sang by her and Mr. Cole was very pretty. Mrs. McVay was in the meeting Sunday, and will sing at Sunday school.

KINNEY ELECTED TRUANT OFFICER

At the Meeting of County Board of Education in Superintendent's Office This Morning.

WAS THE ONLY CANDIDATE

June 9th is Fixed as Educational Day —Field Day Exercises Probably be Held Then.

At the meeting of the county board of education in the county superintendent's office today, D. M. Kinney was unanimously elected a truant officer for another year. There were no other candidates in the field. Mr. Kinney has held this position for a number of years and has proven himself very efficient in the service.

At the session of the last State legislature a clause was added to the truant law which will make some difference. The additional clause says that the officer does not have to wait for a report from the teacher of the disobedient pupil before he acts, but can get the information from whatever source possible. And when one notice against the parents is filed by the truant officer it holds good for the school year and not simply for the one specific instance, which was the case in the old law.

It was also decided at the meeting this morning that Wednesday, June 9, would be Educational Day, when the eighth year graduates from all over the county will hold their exercises at the Main Street Christian church. Dr. Elliot of Indianapolis, State superintendent of public instruction, will deliver the commencement address. In all probability the Field Day exercises will be held at the fair ground on the same day, when the pupils of the high schools of the county will compete for honors. This date, however, has not been definitely decided.

The following high school commencement dates have been decided on: Milroy, May 7; New Salem, May 14; Manilla, May 26; and the Arlington date has not been definitely settled. Speakers will deliver addresses at all of the exercises.

It was decided at the meeting that the examination for the eighth grade pupils who failed in one or two subjects would be held in the county superintendent's office the third Saturday in May.

OUTLOOK FOR HAY IS NOT VERY GOOD

Prospects at This Time Are Not Rosy—Many Replanted the Crop.

SOME OF IT IN GOOD SHAPE

Timothy which was sowed last fall has failed to come up the way it ought to, and local dealers are selling a half more of that seed this spring for resowing than they have in years gone by. Clover seed which was put in the ground last fall has begun to make its appearance in nice shape but it is too early at this time to say what the outlook for the crop is.

This is the time of the year for clover to make its appearance above the ground, but the season for definite comment has not come. However, the ground in which it was sown was in average condition and there is every reason to believe that the stand this spring will be a very good one. It will be remembered that the weather in February, the month in which the first and heavy part of the sowing was done, was good.

WEAK KIDNEYS MAKE WEAK BODIES

Kidney Diseases Cause Half the Common Aches and Ills of Rushville People.

As one weak link weakens a chain, so weak kidneys weaken the whole body and hasten the final breaking-down.

Overwork, strains, colds and other causes injure the kidneys, and when their activity is lessened the whole body suffers from the excess of uric poison circulated in the blood.

Aches and pains and languor and urinary ills come, and there is an ever increasing tendency towards diabetes and fatal Bright's disease. There is no real help for the sufferer except kidney help.

Doan's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys and cure every kidney ill. Rushville cures are the proof.

Mrs. Ulysses Beaver, 120 Fifth Street, Rushville, Ind., says: "I feel that it is my duty to advise parents having children afflicted with kidney complaint to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial. One of my children was troubled in this way and had but little control over the kidney secretions at night. Hearing of similar cases where Doan's Kidney Pills had effected cures, I procured a supply of the remedy at F. B. Johnson & Co.'s drug store. It brought prompt relief and convinced me of its great merit."

BY THE WAYSIDE

The Greensburg News puts this one over: "A Shelby county farmer bought a jug of whiskey in Shelbyville last week. The cork came out of the jug and saturated a bag of rice which his wife threw away. An old rooster—a barnyard patriarch—feasted on it, and after a while fell over. The farmer's wife thinking him dead, began to pluck the feathers from the fowl and then threw the bird on top of the dump. Next morning she beaked a featherless fowl perched on the rail fence crowing its usual cock-a-doodle-do, not at all ashamed of its lapse into drunkenness."

They're 5 cents per bunch, fresh, green and tender.

Physicians say they are good for the health.

Women claim they are good for the complexion.

If you don't like them, you're not in it now.

Go to work and you notice the office boy has been eating them.

Go home and your mother has them on the table.

Go to see your best girl at night and you detect their presence—if she knew you were coming maybe she didn't eat any.

You don't like em and say so, but what's the use—you can't get away from 'em—young onions.

SIGN OF SPRING.

Spring is mostly sweet and kind, And to it we are resigned; But, alas, to our surprise, It can be, if but it tries, Quite the meanest season that In the twelve months comes to bat.

Quite enamored of its smile, How we brag about its style, Backing it for all its worth, As the greatest thing on earth! Then there comes the lightning shift, And we bump into a drift.

When it's good and feeling fit, Nothing's in the class with it. When it isn't, then great Scott, It's the limit, like as not, From the sweetest thing in sight Changes to a perfect fright.

Has as many moods, I ween, As a girl of sweet sixteen. Never know as you arise Just the kind of a surprise It will bring before the sun Sinks and says the day is done.

Maybe cold and may be hot— One can never dope the plot, For the wisest can not know Whether it will rain or snow Or will on the world expand With a smile to beat the band.

INDIANA POSSE TAKES FUGITIVES

Kentucky Jail Breaker is Rounded up at Newburg After a Running Fight.

WINCHESTERS WERE USED

Town Marshal and Posse Subdue the Desperate Gang and Land Their Man.

Evansville, Ind., May 3.—After a running fight with Marshal Bob Cravens and a posse armed with Winchester rifles at Newburg at 9:30 last night, five of the eight men who broke out of the Owensboro (Ky.) jail Sunday morning were caught. Members of the posse were uninjured, but Byrd Campbell, a colored fugitive, was shot in the arm.

The jail delivery, whereby eight men escaped by prying a window bar, occurred at 3 o'clock Sunday morning. Five of the men crossed to the Indiana shore near Newburg in a skiff and passed the city unobserved. They deserted their skiff below the city and took to the traction line running into Evansville.

The marshal and posse learned of their flight down the railroad and gave chase in buggies. The posse cut in ahead of the men three miles out of Newburg and hid behind a small way station building. When the five fugitives came up the officers stepped out and pulled their guns. The negro, Campbell, pulled a pistol and fired back, then ran across the fields.

William Holder and Phelps Hopkins of the posse gave chase. In the dark the negro almost escaped, but Holder finally winged him with a rifle bullet. The five prisoners were taken to Newburg and locked up.

Axtell for embezzlement. Norman made an affidavit that one of the jurors in the Axtell case had expressed an opinion prior to the trial. This the juror denied before the grand jury.

Welcome Words To Women

If, you are an intelligent thinking woman, in need of relief from weakness, nervousness, pain and suffering, then it means much to you that there is one tried and true honest square-deal medicine OF KNOWN COMPOSITION, sold by druggists for the cure of woman's ills. The makers of

for the cure of weak, nervous, run-down, over-worked, debilitated, pain-racked women, knowing this medicine to be made up of ingredients, every one of which has the strongest possible endorsement of the leading and standard authorities of the several schools of practice, are perfectly willing, and in fact, are only too glad to print, as they do, the formula, or list of ingredients, of which it is composed, in plain English, on every bottle-wrapper. Is this not a significant fact worthy of careful consideration?

Women use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription in preference to all other advocated medicines sold by druggists for their peculiar weaknesses and ailments because it is

THE ONE REMEDY which contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs, is not anything like advertised secret compounds or patent medicines.

THE ONE REMEDY for women devised by a regularly graduated physician of vast experience in woman's ailments and carefully adapted to her delicate organism.

THE ONE REMEDY good enough that its makers are not afraid to print its every ingredient on its outside bottle-wrapper.

It's foolish—often dangerous to be over-persuaded into accepting a secret nostrum in place of this time-proven medicine of KNOWN COMPOSITION. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

THIS AND THAT

Dora Betker purchased a pair of summer spectacles in Chicago last week. The lower half of the glasses have a wire screen in them.

Snobs: "I tell you, what Rushville needs is an Elks lodge. They could get over 200 members here."

Hobbs: "What are you talking about. Why, there wasn't hardly that many wet votes in the county."

Jack Frost has been crowned Queen of May.

The Missionary Baptists had appropriate weather for the opening of their church yesterday—it rained.

The post Easter parade was postponed again Sunday and rain checks given out.

There was a decided slump in the ice cream and sweetheart business Sunday.

May is behaving badly—she ought to be ashamed of herself for thirty-one days.

A good many people are still throwing mud at each other just because we haven't paved streets and the mud is within easy access.

A man cannot convince you that he is cultured the first time he meets you, but many of them attempt it.

"Kitty," said her mother, rebukingly, "you must sit still when you are at the table." "I can't, mamma," protested the little girl, "I'm a vegetarian."

THE ONE BEST BETTY.

(Greensburg Graphic.)

Mrs. Bertha Wise, the Mother Wise so dearly respected by sundry "lucky" boys received a severely burned hand Saturday by the popping of hot grease.

TRIBUTE TO PETROSINO.

Famous Italian Detective, Terror of Criminals, Who Was Killed in Sicily. Vaguely, with neither praise nor blame, We in our guarded safe repose Knew him by name as one of those Who walk the darkness of the days.

We did not understand as now That Death walked with him through the years. Though never thought of faltering fears Paired the high courage of his brow.

We did not know when evening skies Shone on our rest or pleasuring That any dusk his doom might bring, The end was ever in his eyes.

And still, with laughter and with love, He went his shadow haunted way. The martyrdom we mourn today Needs none to tell how well he strove.

He died for us across the sea, A people alien to his race— He died for us amid the grace And flowers of his Italy.

He has come "home" to sleep, to rest, Here where men plotted all his harm, Our sterner hearts above him warm, Our colder blossoms on his breast.

Here is no deed effacing death; Here is no triumph for his foes. Porth his unbattered battle goes. His spirit breathes eternal breath. —Chester Firkins in New York American.

LESS NOISE IN TRUST WAR.

Silence to Be Factor in Prosecuting Corporations, Says Wade H. Ellis.

From the headquarters of the commander in chief general orders have gone forth that augur ill for "the enemy," the trusts.

"Soft pedal on the noise," say the orders, "cut out the talk and get results. Take a lesson from our enemy. Maintain absolute secrecy about your maneuvers, deploy your forces in ambush, conceal your movements, and spring from unexpected quarters. Let your glory be in results, not in prophecies of what you are going to do."

This is the substance of the new order which has been sent out from the executive offices at the White House to be promulgated through the office of the attorney general to every district attorney and every special attorney engaged in the "trust busting" war now being waged by the United States government.

The information is authentic, coming as it does from no less authority than Wade H. Ellis, assistant attorney general in charge of prosecutions against violators of the antitrust and interstate commerce laws. Mr. Ellis was recently in Chicago, and these were the orders he transmitted to District Attorney Sims.

"I cannot talk about my mission in Chicago," said he, "because that would be a violation of the new order."

"Is the government going to put the soft pedal on trust prosecutions?" he was asked.

"That depends entirely upon what you mean by 'soft pedal,'" he answered. "If you mean are we going to have less smoke and more fire, less noise and more action, I can answer yes. Secrecy is the order of the day, and I am not excepted from compliance to the new policy."

The same tactics which the corporation lawyer uses in the defense of a case will be used by the government attorneys in the prosecution. Each maneuver will be discovered to the defendant only when it is ready to be put into execution.

DINNER TO ROOSEVELT.

Elaborate Menu Designed as Souvenir For Farewell on Hamburg.

A farewell dinner to ex-President Roosevelt was given on the Hamburg on the evening before the ship recently reached Naples. The menu card was specially designed as a souvenir. On the front cover is a portrait of Mr. Roosevelt, with his signature in facsimile. The third cover contains two designs symbolic of Africa, one showing a crouching lion and the other a native with drawn bow. The first inside page contains, as a frontispiece, a reproduction of the steamer Hamburg leaving New York. The outer cover shows a new photograph of the former president, with his autograph and the monogram of the line. The title page, printed in gold, shows the head of a hippopotamus just above the water, with open jaws.

The next page contains the menu, printed in German and English.

On another page is a sextet welcoming Colonel Roosevelt to Africa. Stretched across that continent are a hippo, a giraffe, a lion, a gorilla and an elephant, all in evening clothes, singing "Waiting For You."

Across the bottom of both pages is a row of prancing Teddy bears.

BIG FLOATING ISLAND.

Novel Feature of Champlain Tercentenary—Real Indians to Take Part.

A feature of the celebration of the three hundredth anniversary of the discovery of Lake Champlain, to which the entire week of July 4 is to be given up, will be an island, made to order, built on barges and having real trees, rocks, grass, a stockade and Indian wigwams, to be used by a party of nearly 200 Indians from upper Canada, says an Albany dispatch.

The Indians will take part in a sham battle, planned to represent with historical accuracy one of the conflicts between the forces of Champlain and the Iroquois. The Indians, in canoes, will come down the lake and land on broad "beaches" made of wooden wings hinged to the sides of the island. The pageant of Hlawatha, which the Indians will also present, is taken from their own legend, differing in some respects from that of Longfellow.

The island will be towed alongshore for celebrations at various points.

Day of Universal Arbitration Is Dawning.

By Dr. Paul F. ROH, German Consul in Chicago.

THE rise of COMMERCE AND INDUSTRY throughout the civilized world is doing more than anything else to promote the cause of international peace. The tour of the American ship squadron was A MASTERLY STROKE of diplomacy and cannot but have been productive of splendid results.

THE DAY WILL COME WHEN ARBITRATION SHALL SERVE AS THE MEDIATOR OF ALL INTERNATIONAL QUARRELS.

Strengthen Our Small Army With a Large, Well Trained Militia.

By Major General LEONARD WOOD, Commander of the Department of the East.

OUR army of today is a very small affair. It is something under 60,000 men. It is a bare nucleus in case the United States gets into trouble with a foreign power. The principal work of army men is to BUILD UP A REAL ARMY THROUGH THE MILITIA.

I was hurt when told that certain prominent business men declared that if a man was a good militiaman he was a poor clerk or office man. This spirit should not exist.

WE MUST DISSEMINATE THE MILITARY KNOWLEDGE AND TRAINING THAT WILL GIVE US A REAL ARMY IN CASE OF WAR.

No one need fear that the army of the United States will ever exert any undue influence. We have 50 per cent less than the number of men necessary to man the guns that are already planted.

OVERCOMES A BIG HANDICAP.

One of the Most Serious Drawbacks Has Been Clatter of Dirigible Craft's Machinery—Californian Claims to Have Solved Intricate Problem.

Captain Thomas S. Baldwin, the California aeronaut, whose dirigible airship was accepted by the United States government last year, recently made the interesting statement that the new dirigible now being built for him at Hammondsport, N. Y., will be a noiseless machine.

"I will make my new machine so devoid of noise when in operation," said Captain Baldwin, "that two men in the machine will be able to carry on a conversation if necessary in a whisper. This will be done by muffling the engine and using ball and roller bearings for the propellers. There ought to be no great difficulty in preventing excessive noise in a dirigible while in the air. The solution is one of improved construction."

"Up to the present time the main effort has been directed toward getting in the air. Now that this has been accomplished refinements in mechanical work will follow, and the next few years, I predict, will see scores of improvements which will make airships highly practicable for a number of purposes."

Added interest in the future practicability of airships has recently been aroused from the criticisms made by Prince Henry of Prussia in a lecture which he recently gave at the Marine academy at Kiel, describing his trip in the immense Zeppelin airship. Among other things he regarded the noise of the propellers as a serious disadvantage, being calculated to betray the approach of the ship in wartime. To send orders from the bridge to men in other parts of the ship it is necessary to write them and send them in a carrier attached to an endless wire, as it is impossible to hear a voice above the din of the motors. This difficulty has been experienced in all similar machines.

To permit the man at the motor to give quick orders to the man steering at the rear of the machine Lieutenant Lahm advised the equipment of the government airship with speaking tubes, and this will probably be in use when the military dirigible resumes its aerial flight this year.

Prince Henry in summing up the results of the Zeppelin invention said that the problem of reaching a fixed and not too distant point in not too unfavorable weather conditions was solved, but he thought that the question whether steerable airships were at present suitable as regular means of communication or could be employed for purposes of war must be regarded skeptically.

A steerable airship, he added, could not make headway against wind above a certain velocity, and, further, the internal combustion engine is not yet capable of undertaking a long distance journey. Moreover, the altitude that can be attained is limited by the fact that above a certain height, owing to the decreasing density of the atmosphere, the propellers met with less resistance, while the motors give unsatisfactory results owing to the decrease of oxygen.

"An airship will always, more or less, be at the mercy of the wind," said Captain Baldwin. "A steamship cannot make its best headway in a storm or against adverse head winds, and the same is true when one tries to sail in changing air currents. My new machine will be built for a speed of twenty-two miles an hour. Going against a ten mile wind, therefore, the machine will go only about twelve miles an hour, and if the wind is greater than twenty-two miles it will be at its mercy to just that extent. But this is the least of the evils, and I believe all the difficulties enumerated by Prince Henry will be overcome in time through improved methods of construction."

"Take the noise difficulty, for instance. No effort has thus far been made to lessen it. Muffling an engine naturally curtails some of its power. The airship people have pursued the policy that they needed the maximum power of their engines. That isn't always necessary, for the Zeppelin airship while buffeted by the winds kept aloft although one engine had ceased to work. In the trials with the government machine we frequently found it advisable to throttle the engine, as we were getting more power than we needed. The improvement in gasoline engine building no longer requires that the maximum power be used to attain satisfactory results under ordinary conditions. It is there, however, if needed."—New York Cor. ### Girls For Messengers.

Leipzig is the first German city to inaugurate a system of bicycle messenger girls. They are dressed in uniforms of red, trimmed with gold braid and gold buttons, and wear their little messenger caps at the dangerous angle of forty-five degrees. The hat is held securely by the regulation band, which passes under the chin and also does away with the necessity of hatpins.

Sister's New Spring Hat.

Sister's got a new spring hat, one of these wastebasket things. On the top it's kind of flat, bare of ribbons and of wings. It comes down around her neck, and it hides her ears from sight. Gee, I don't see why a girl wants to be a screaming fright!

After pa had took one look at her he let out a dismal sigh. Sister's hat hid half her nose and hung down across one eye. Pa he stood and gazed awhile; then at last he sadly spoke. There was something in his voice made me think his heart was broke.

"And they made you pay for that?" pa asked in a dismal tone. As he looked at sister's hat and seemed pained enough to groan. "Made you pay good money which I have worked blamed hard to get. All I've got to say is this is the biggest outrage yet!"

"Do you s'pose that any beau while you've got that on," says he. "Would come in and try to win you away from ma and me? There's no use, if you must wear such a blamed outlandish thing. To expect we'll have a chance to get rid of you this spring."

Still, I guess it's hard to make women lose their loveliness. It don't make much difference, after all, the way they dress. Every night some fellow comes courting sister just the same. Though she's got a new spring hat that pa calls a sin and shame. —Chicago Record-Herald.

Heart Strength
Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Positively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have, more power, more stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the Heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.
This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is alone directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds; it strengthens; it offers real, genuine heart help.
If you would have strong hearts, strong digestion, strengthen these nerves—re-establish them as needed, with

CHAPTER X.
INDOORS Kirkwood faced unhappily the enigma of fortune, wondering if this by any possibility were No. 9.
The key had fitted, the bolts had been drawn on the inside, and, while the key had been one of ordinary pattern and would no doubt have proved effectual with any one of a hundred common locks, the finger of probability seemed to indicate that his luck had brought him back to No. 9.
In spite of all this, he was sensible of little confidence. Though this were truly No. 9, his freedom still lay on the knees of the gods; his very life, believe, was poised, tottering on a pinnacle of chance.
In the end, taking heart of desperation, he stooped and removed his shoes, a precaution which later appealed to his sense of the ridiculous in view of the racket he had raised in entering, but which at the moment seemed most natural and in accordance with common sense. Then, rising, he held his breath, staring and listening. About him the pitch darkness was punctuated with fading points of fire, and in his ears was a noise of strange whisperings.
He went forward gingerly, feeling his way like a blind man on strange ground. Ere long he stumbled over a door sill and found that the walls of the passage had fallen away. He had entered a room, a black cavern of indeterminate dimensions. Thence, progressing over complaining floors through what may have been the servants' hall, a large room with a table in the middle and a number of promiscuous chairs (witness his tortured shins), he finally blundered into the basement hallway.
By now a little calmer, he felt assured that this was really No. 9. Frognall street and a little happier about it all, though not even momentarily forgetful of the potential police and night watchman. However, he mounted the steps to the ground floor without adventure and found himself at last in the same dim and ghostly hall which he had entered some six hours before. The mockery of dusk admitted by the faint light was just strong enough to enable him to identify the general lay of the land and arrangement of furniture.
More confidently with each untested step he continued his quest. Elation was stirring his spirit when he gained the first floor and moved toward the foot of the second flight, approaching the spot whereat he was to begin the search for the missing purse. The knowledge that he lacked means of obtaining illumination deterred him nothing. He had some hope of finding matches in one of the adjacent rooms, but, failing that, was prepared to ascend the stairs on all fours, feeling every inch of their surface if it took hours.
And thus it fell out that, at the instant he was thinking it time to begin to crawl and hunt, his stockinged feet came into contact with something heavy, yielding, warm—something that moved, moaned and caused his hair to bristle and his flesh to creep.
We will make allowances for him. All along he had gone on the assumption that his antagonist of the dark stairway would have recovered and made off with all expedition in the course of ten or twenty minutes at most from the time of his accident. To find him still there was something entirely outside of Kirkwood's reckoning. He would as soon have thought to encounter, say, Calendar—would have preferred the latter, indeed.
"Poor devil!" murmured the young man. "He must be in a pretty bad way for sure!" He knelt, compassion gentling his heart, and put one hand to the insistent face. A warm sweat moistened his fingers. His palm was fanned by steady respiration.
Immeasurably perplexed, the American rose, slipped on his shoes and buttoned them, thinking hard the while. What ought he to do? Obviously flight suggested itself—incontinent flight, anticipating the man's recovery. On the other hand, indubitably the latter had sustained such injury that consciousness, when it came to him, would hardly be re-enforced by much aggressive power. Moreover, it was to be remembered that the one was in that house with quite as much warrant as the other, unless Kirkwood had drawn a rash inference from the incident of the ragged sentry. The two of them were mutual if antagonistic trespassers. Neither would dare bring about the arrest of the other. And then—and this was not the least consideration to influence Kirkwood—perhaps the fellow would die if he got no attention.
Light upon the subject, actual as well as figurative, seemed to be the first essential. His mind composed, Kirkwood set himself in search of it. The floor he was on, however, afforded him no assistance.
After some momentary hesitation he went upstairs, his ascent marked by a single and grateful incident. Halfway to the top he trod on an object that clinked underfoot and, stopping, retrieved the lost purse.
The rooms on the second floor were bedchambers, broad, deep, stately, inhabited by seven devils of loneliness.

Feeling his way like a blind man on strange ground.

In one, on a dresser, Kirkwood found a stump of candle in a china candlestick. The two charred ends of matches at its base were only an irritating discovery, however—evidence that real matches had been the mode in No. 9 at some remote date. Disgusted and oppressed by cumulative inquisitiveness, he took the candle end back to the hall. He would have given much for the time and means to make a more detailed investigation into the secret of the house.
Since his latest entrance his vision had adjusted itself to cope with the obscurity to some extent, and the street lights, meagerly reflected through the windows from the bosom of a sullen pall of cloud low swung above the city, had helped him to piece together many a detail of decoration and furnishing, alike somber and richly dignified. Kirkwood told himself that the owner, whoever he might be, was a man of wealth and taste inherited from another age. He had found little of meretricious today in the dwelling, much that was solid and sedate and homely and—Victorian. He could have wished for more. A box of early Victorian vestas had been highly acceptable.
Making his way downstairs to the stricken man, who was quite as he had been, Kirkwood bent over and until it dripped. Then, returning, he took the boy's head on his knees, washed the wound, purloined another handkerchief of silk, with a giddy border, from the other's pocket and of this manufactured a rude but serviceable bandage.
Toward the conclusion of his attentions the sufferer began to show signs of returning animation. He stirred restlessly, whimpered a little and sighed. And Kirkwood in consternation got up.
"Sol!" he commented ruefully. "I guess I am an ass, all right, taking all that trouble for you, my friend. If I've got a grain of sense left, this is my cue to leave you alone in your glory."
He was lingering only to restore to the boy's pockets such articles as he had removed in the search for matches—the matchbox, a few silver coins, a bulky sovereign purse, a handsome plain gold watch, and so forth. But ere he concluded he was aware that the boy was conscious; that his eyes, open and blinking in the candlelight, were upon him.
They were blue eyes—blue and shallow as a doll's and edged with long, fine lashes. Intelligence of a certain degree was rapidly informing them. Kirkwood returned their questioning glance, transfixed in indecision. His primal impulse to cut and run for it was gone. He had nothing to fear from this child, who could not prevent his going whenever he chose to go, while by remaining he might perchance worm from him something about Dorothy.
"You're feeling better?" He was almost surprised to hear his own voice put the query.
"I—I think so. Ow, my head! I say, you chap, whoever you are, what's happened? I want to get up." The boy added peevishly, "Help a fellow, can't you?"
"You've had a nasty fall," Kirkwood observed evenly, passing an arm beneath the boy's shoulder and helping him to a sitting position. "Do you remember?"
The other snuffed childishly and scrubbed across the floor to rest his back against the wall.
"Why-y, I remember fallin', and then I woke up, and it was all dark, and my head achin' fit to split. I presume I went to sleep again. I say, what're you doin' here?"
Instead of replying Kirkwood lifted a warning finger.
"Hush!" he said tensely, alarmed by noises in the street. "You don't suppose—"
He had been conscious of a carriage rolling up from the corner as well as that it had drawn up (presumably) before a nearby dwelling. Now the rattle of a key in the hall door was startlingly audible. Before he could move the door itself opened with a slam.
Kirkwood moved toward the stairhead and drew back, with a cry of disgust. "Too late," he told himself bitterly. His escape was cut off. He could run upstairs and hide, of course, but the boy would inform against him and—
He buttoned up his coat, settled his hat on his head and moved near the candle, where it rested on the floor. One glimpse would suffice to show him the force of the intruders and one move of his foot put out the light; then—perhaps—he might be able to rush them.
Below a brief pause had followed the noise of the door, as if those entering were standing, irresolute, undecided which way to turn, but abruptly enough the glimmer of candlelight must have been noticed. Kirkwood heard a hushed exclamation, a quick clatter of heels on the parquetry, pattering feet on the stairs, all but drowned by swish and ripple of silken skirts, and a woman stood at the head of the flight—to the American an apparition profoundly amazing as she paused, the light from the floor casting odd, theatric shadows beneath her eyes and over her brows, edging her eyes themselves with brilliant light beneath their dark lashes, showing her lips straight and drawn and shimmering upon the spangles of an evening gown, visible beneath the dark cloak which had fallen back from her white, beautiful shoulders.

Don't Close the Pores of the Skin and Drive it In.
Persons afflicted with Eczema, Scrofula, Psoriasis Ulcers, Pimples, etc., frequently have recourse to strong astringent external remedies to dry up and close the pores of the skin in order to get temporary relief, forgetting in their anxiety, that by so doing they are forcing the poisonous germs back into the blood to reassert itself, a month later, in the old disease area, or on some other part of the body, in a more malignant form. How much better to help the blood throw off the impurities which cause these diseases, and get permanent relief. Blood is the most important constituent of the human body, and when impure is the underlying cause of most of our ailments, particularly skin diseases. ## INDIANA POLITICS

ROBERT G. TUCKER.

Indianapolis, May 3.—At conferences held by the brewers recently a sentiment is said to have been manifested in favor of letting the Democrats and the Republicans alone, and of trying to save the business by other methods. Some of the brewers are said to have concluded that it would not only ruin their cause but that of the Democratic party if it declared for the repeal of the county local option law. Owing to the stand taken by the Democrats for the ward and township unit the brewers are understood to be looking to it for relief in the future—at least for opposition to a state-wide prohibition amendment to the constitution, but if the new deal under consideration is not blocked, it is declared that the brewery combine will not attempt to control the organization or the policy of the party in the state convention. Recently, some of the brewers have discussed these ideas with prominent members of the Democratic party who are hostile to any plans the combine may have for tying up with the Democratic organization. The brewers are being informed, it is said, that if they attempt to interfere with plans that are being made for a new line-up within the Democratic party that there will be an open fight on them that will hurt their cause in many ways. Under cover, plans of vast importance to the Democrats and to the brewery combine are taking form, but it will be some time before they develop sufficiently to be disclosed to the public. If they are brought to a successful issue, it will mean that the Democratic organization will be made up of members of all factions but that it will be minus the strong brewery influence which has been conspicuous for several years. If the brewers succeed in rearranging their cast, as expected, they will try out a campaign of education instead of the old style method of operating through either the Democratic or the Republican party.

There is no doubt that most of the Republicans who are active in politics are afraid that any declaration they may make next year on the liquor question will be disastrous. Whether there would be more advantages to mention or to ignore the party's attitude in the recent campaign and legislature is a matter that will cause a great waste of gray matter during the next few months. Ralph Kane, senator from Hamilton county, who was a Republican leader during the recent session, says that he is in favor of the party saying as little as possible in its platform about the liquor problem and that it must, at all hazards, keep away from a declaration in favor of an amendment for state-wide prohibition. He does not think that it is necessary for the party to declare again for local option. His idea is that it should state merely that it is satisfied with its record. It is believed that there will be a large element that will share Kane's views, but it is expected, also, that the Hanly-Bingham contingent of radical prohibitionists, will demand a state-wide prohibition amendment. If the country delegates control the next convention, there may be a declaration for state-wide prohibition.

When the brewery combine shows its hand again it is intimated that the Lieber-Crawford Fairbanks team, which has set the pace for it for several years, will be set further back in the harness, if it is not entirely dissolved. Fairbanks was at the head of the brewery lobby during the recent disastrous onslaught on the county local option law. Lieber did not appear as prominently in the game as in former sessions, but he did what ever he could for the cause. While it is not understood that there has been a revolt against the leadership of Fairbanks and Lieber, it is rumored that a very influential element of the combine has intimated that a change in management might be beneficial. At some of the rehearsals, it is said that the question of leadership has been discussed and that Fairbanks showed a disposition to step aside.

CHILD KILLED BY AUTO

Little Girl Run Down on Streets of Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, May 3.—Loretta, the nine-year-old daughter of Frederick Sellmeyer, living at 1451 Southeastern avenue, died this morning of injuries suffered when she was struck by an automobile while she was sitting on the street curb in front of her home. The automobile was the property of the Gibson Automobile company and was driven by Walter Johnson, seventeen years old, a chauffeur for the firm. Johnson was sent to the police station and charged with assault and battery and driving on the left side of the street.

Upholds Rights of Cities.

Ft. Wayne, Ind., May 3.—Judge R. N. Heaton, of the superior court, sustained the city's demurrer to a complaint of Nelson Craig, a dairyman, who sought to enjoin the city from preventing him from selling milk. Craig's license was revoked by the mayor because he refused to submit his cows to a tuberculin test. Judge Heaton holds that the city has a right to make reasonable provisions and conditions under which milk can be sold within the city limits and to enforce these provisions.

FIRST PRESIDENT OF PANAMA DEAD

Dr. Amador Passes Away at Age of Seventy-Five.

Panama, May 3.—Dr. Manuel Amador, first president of the Republic of Panama, died shortly after 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, after a lingering illness. He was seventy-five years old.

Manuel Amador was one of the prime movers in the revolution in 1903 against Columbia, which led to the independence of Panama. He was born at Cartagena, and early in life engaged in commercial business. Later he began the practice of medicine, finally becoming one of the eminent physicians of his country.

Dr. Amador in politics was a conservative, and in 1869, much against his will, he was nominated and elected to the presidency of the state of Panama. He never took office, however, for a liberal revolution was started and succeeded before his inauguration. Afterward he steadfastly refused to accept high political offices and when at last he was chosen president of the republic of Panama, the honor came to him unsought.

Dr. Amador, prior to the last presidential election, wrote a letter to his constituents declining re-nomination, and General Obaldia last December was elected in his stead.

BOTH SIDES DETERMINED

Strike of Great Lakes Seamen Promises to be Stubborn.

Chicago, May 3.—Twelve thousand members of the Great Lakes Seamen's union have gone out on strike. All ports are affected.

The Lake Carriers' association, against which the men are striking, declares it will make no concessions, and the men are equally determined to win.

The Colonel to Call On the Pope.

Rome, May 3.—While on the Red sea, April 15, en route to Mombasa, Theodore Roosevelt wrote a letter to Cardinal Satolli, in which he said: "I look forward to renewing our acquaintance a year hence when I shall present my respects to the Holy Father, to whom I beg of you to give my personal regards."

New Horror at Adana.

Adana, May 3.—Smallpox has broken out in epidemic form. It is impossible to estimate the number of cases as there is no system of medical reports, but during the past two weeks the spread of disease has been frightful because of the terrible disorders and the homeless element roaming about the city.

Shot Himself in Church.

Nicholasville, Ky., May 3.—Brooding over a quarrel with his sweetheart, Alex Jennings, twenty-one years old and the son of wealthy parents, threw the congregation at a crowded country church at Little Hickman, near here, into a panic Sunday, by firing a bullet into his brain.

NATIONS MEET TO TALK PEACE

Congress of Wars' Enemies Assembles in Chicago—Interested in Pacific Movement.

MANY LANDS REPRESENTED

Will Discuss Establishing an International Supreme Court at the Hague.

Chicago, May 3.—The second national peace congress, which opened in this city today and will remain in session until Wednesday evening, is wider in scope than the United States. It should be termed an international peace conference, since the representatives of many nations are taking part in its deliberations.

Ballinger Represents the President.

It had been expected that Secretary of War Dickinson would represent the government at the opening of the congress and deliver one of the opening addresses. His trip to Panama intervened, however, and Secretary of the Interior Ballinger was delegated by President Taft to declare the cordial sentiments of the Washington government toward the congress and its purposes. Among the other Americans interested in the congress are Edward Everett Hale, Archbishop Ireland, Charles W. Eliot, former president of Harvard; President David Starr Jordan of Leland Stanford, Jr., university; Mrs. Philip N. Moore, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Lucia Ames Mead of Boston; Senator Theodore E. Burton, Governor Deneen and Samuel Gompers.

Welcomed by Governor and Mayor.

An address of welcome to the state of Illinois was delivered to the delegates by Governor Deneen, and Mayor Busse spoke for the city of Chicago. Other opening addresses were those on "The Present Position of the Peace Movement," by Benjamin F. Trueblood, secretary of the American Peace society; "A World Petition to the Third Hague Conference," by Mrs. Anna B. Eckstein of Boston, and "The Biology of War," by Professor Jordan.

Among the questions to be discussed at the congress is that of the establishment of a supreme court of the nations at The Hague to settle disputes between nations. The present congress is the successor of the first national peace congress, held in New York in April, 1907.

STARTLING FIGURES

Two Million Citizens of the United States Out of Work.

Washington, May 3.—Two million citizens of the United States are out of work. This estimate, believed to be conservative, has been made by Secretary Frank Morrison of the American Federation of Labor.

These figures were agreed upon at an informal conference at the American Federation of Labor headquarters, in which President Samuel Gompers participated.

There are no statistics based on accurate information available to show the total number of unemployed, but this estimate is made by men who are familiar with the conditions of employment throughout the United States.

Tennessee Legislature Adjourns.

Nashville, Tenn., May 3.—At 7:51 Sunday morning the general assembly of Tennessee adjourned sine die. The legislature just closed enacted more drastic bills than have come from any of its predecessors. Conspicuous in this respect are the laws prohibiting sale or manufacture of intoxicating liquors in Tennessee. At a late hour Saturday night Governor Patterson vetoed the bill providing for search of suspected depositories and the seizure of any liquor found in them. When the veto was read in the house that body voted to postpone further action which meant the death of the measure.

News Owners Arrested.

Indianapolis, May 3.—Delavan Smith and Charles R. Williams, owners of the Indianapolis News, were formally placed under arrest in the United States circuit court room. The warrants on which they were arrested charge criminal libel. Judge Anderson fixed the bond of each at $5,000, and each man was permitted to become security for the other. The bond is for their appearance in the federal court when the case comes up for hearing on May 31.

Cheers For the New Sultan.

Constantinople, May 3.—Sultan Mehmed has kept himself somewhat in retirement ever since he replaced his brother on the throne. He drove out Sunday to his country house and was warmly cheered. Large crowds had gathered to watch his return to the palace and the sultan was given an ovation which seemed to please him greatly.

PETITION IN MADISON

More Than 5,000 Voters Sign Request for Option Election.

Anderson, Ind., May 3.—The petition for a local option election in Madison county was filed with County Auditor Richards late Saturday afternoon by Chairman Coahran of the Option league. The paper contained the names of 5,182 petitioners, which is nearly 2,000 more than the law requires. There were 375 sheets of names, making a roll nearly one foot in diameter. The petition was taken up by the board of county commissioners at its meeting today and a decision fixing the date of the election will be made tomorrow.

There were nearly 1,000 names on the section of the petition from Pike Creek township, which held the banner for the county.

The experiences of some of the men who circulated the petitions were quite amusing and some pathetic. At one place a woman came to the door with a babe on one arm and a beer bottle in the other hand and began cursing the canvasser.

The "drys" have begun booking speakers and workers for their cause, and will hold meetings in every township. The "wets" will bring George M. McDowell to assist them in their work. He has the reputation of being the man who won Cass and Tippecanoe counties for the "wets."

Authorities Feared Mob.

Evansville, Ind., May 3.—Information from Stanley, Ky., states that George Dalley, who was Saturday shot by two brothers named Shubert, died Sunday and the Shuberts will be charged with murder. The Shuberts shot up a church at Scuffletown, Ky., it is alleged and in the shooting Dalley who was a prominent man in the community was shot. The Shuberts were removed to Louisville because of the fear of a mob.

THEY DID NOT KNOW WHICH SIDE TO JOIN

Why Adana Officials Did Not Stop Massacre.

Adana, Asiatic Turkey, May 1, via Constantinople, May 3.—Miss Elizabeth S. Webb, a missionary of the American board, from Bunker Hill, Illinois, has written a narrative of her experiences for the mission board during the first day of the massacres in Adana, when the girl's school, to which she was attached, was in the greatest danger and the lives of the students were threatened from all sides.

In concluding her narrative, Miss Webb says: "I forgot to say that the British consul sent a message to the governor on Friday that if this thing was not stopped he would demand of the government and the commander of the troops a satisfactory explanation. Whether or not they were powerless to stop the dreadful work before this I do not know, but anyway, then it was stopped. We hear, it seems quite possible, that because of the disturbance in Constantinople, the officials in Adana did not know which side to join, so they simply let things take their course and permitted the Turks and Armenians to fight it out between them."

MUSSELMAN MAY RUN FOR COUNCIL

Attorney Who Married Miss Belva McBride, May Enter a Spirited Contest.

IS POPULAR IN INDIANAPOLIS

Concerning H. E. Musselman, who married Miss Belva McBride of this city, the Indianapolis Sunday Star said:

"H. E. Musselman, an attorney, will likely become a candidate for councilman on the Republican ticket. Mr. Musselman's friends have urged him to enter the race and he says that in all probability he will seek the nomination. He has been practicing law in Indianapolis for about two years, having come here from Covington, Ky.

"Mr. Musselman has had wide business experience. He was connected with the circulation department of a Cincinnati newspaper for some time, and afterwards was associated with a New York paper in a similar capacity. He later became a commercial traveler, and after leaving this work he studied law at Valparaiso and later at the Cincinnati Law School. Concerning the possibility of him becoming a candidate, he says:

"I feel that no office in which there is an opportunity for earnest, intelligent service to the public is too insignificant for a good man."

CROWD PASSED THROUGH FIRE

The Entrance to Nickledeon Wrapped in Flames as Result of an Explosion.

DEADLY BLAZE AT PEORIA

Two Prominent Men Are Dead From Conflagration—Thrilling Escape of the Audience.

Peoria, Ill., May 3.—As the result of the explosion in the film room of the Crescent Nickleodeon here Sunday night resulting in plunging the entire front of the theater into flames, William W. Robinson, city editor of the Peoria Star and manager of the playhouse, is dead.

Walter Woodrow, the moving picture machine operator, is severely burned. Two women fainted following their successful escape to the street. Over three hundred people were in the theater at the time of the fire but no panic ensued, the crowd walking out of the theater through the fire-enveloped main entrance, without exhibiting any signs of panic.

Robinson dropped dead an hour later as the result of inhaling flames in his efforts to control the crowd following the alarm of fire.

SAW MAN MURDERED

But Passengers on Trolley Car Were Helpless to Interfere.

Philadelphia, May 3.—Clarence White, twenty-two years old, who lives in a secluded section of Chester county, was the victim of a brutal murder Sunday that was witnessed by passengers on a suburban trolley car, who, however, were unable to reach him in time to save his life.

While walking along a lonely country road he was held up by three highwaymen, who relieved him of a small sum of money, then cut his throat. The cries of the approaching passengers frightened away White's slayers.

Emery Cassel Acquitted.

These were the words that spelled liberty for George Emery Cassel, under indictment since Feb. 7, 1908, and twice tried for the murder of Thomas Mills near Quincy, Ind. The verdict was returned after the jury had deliberated for six hours.

Their Honor Was Satisfied.

BY THE WAYSIDE

Running a newspaper is just like running a hotel, only different. When a man goes into a hotel and finds something on the table which does not suit him, he does not raise his hand with the landlord and tell him to stop his old hotel. Well, hardly. He sets that aside and wades into the dishes that suit him. It is different with some newspaper readers. They find an article occasionally that does not suit them exactly and, without stopping to think it may please hundreds of other readers, make a grand stand play and tell the editor how a paper should be run and what should be put into it, but such people are becoming fewer every year.

GOOD HOUSEKEEPERS USE THE BEST.

That's why they use Red Cross Ball Blue. At leading grocers. 5 cents.

AMUSEMENTS

The popular Vaudelet offers an extra good program for tonight of two good comedies entitled "The Medicine Bottle" and "Jones and His New Neighbors." The talking picture will be the same used Saturday night, "The Octoroon," and is considered the best in the entire repertoire of the Mayme DeRussell Co. A story well told, centered in the pine regions of the southland.

The Palace theater will have a complete change of program tonight.
